ABOUT THIS BOOK

In April of 2011, our family of seven (my husband and I and our five children ages 9, 7, 6, 4 and 6 months), left our home for the past year in Homer, Alaska to set out on an epic expedition - driving in a veggie powered truck from Alaska to Argentina, visiting every country in North and South America.

Our goal was to slowly discover the wonder, beauty, culture, people and places of these two continents; to educate our children through hands-on experience; to learn multiple languages; and to live a life that was meaningful and exciting to us.

This book is the first in a series that will share our experiences as we travel through each of the countries.

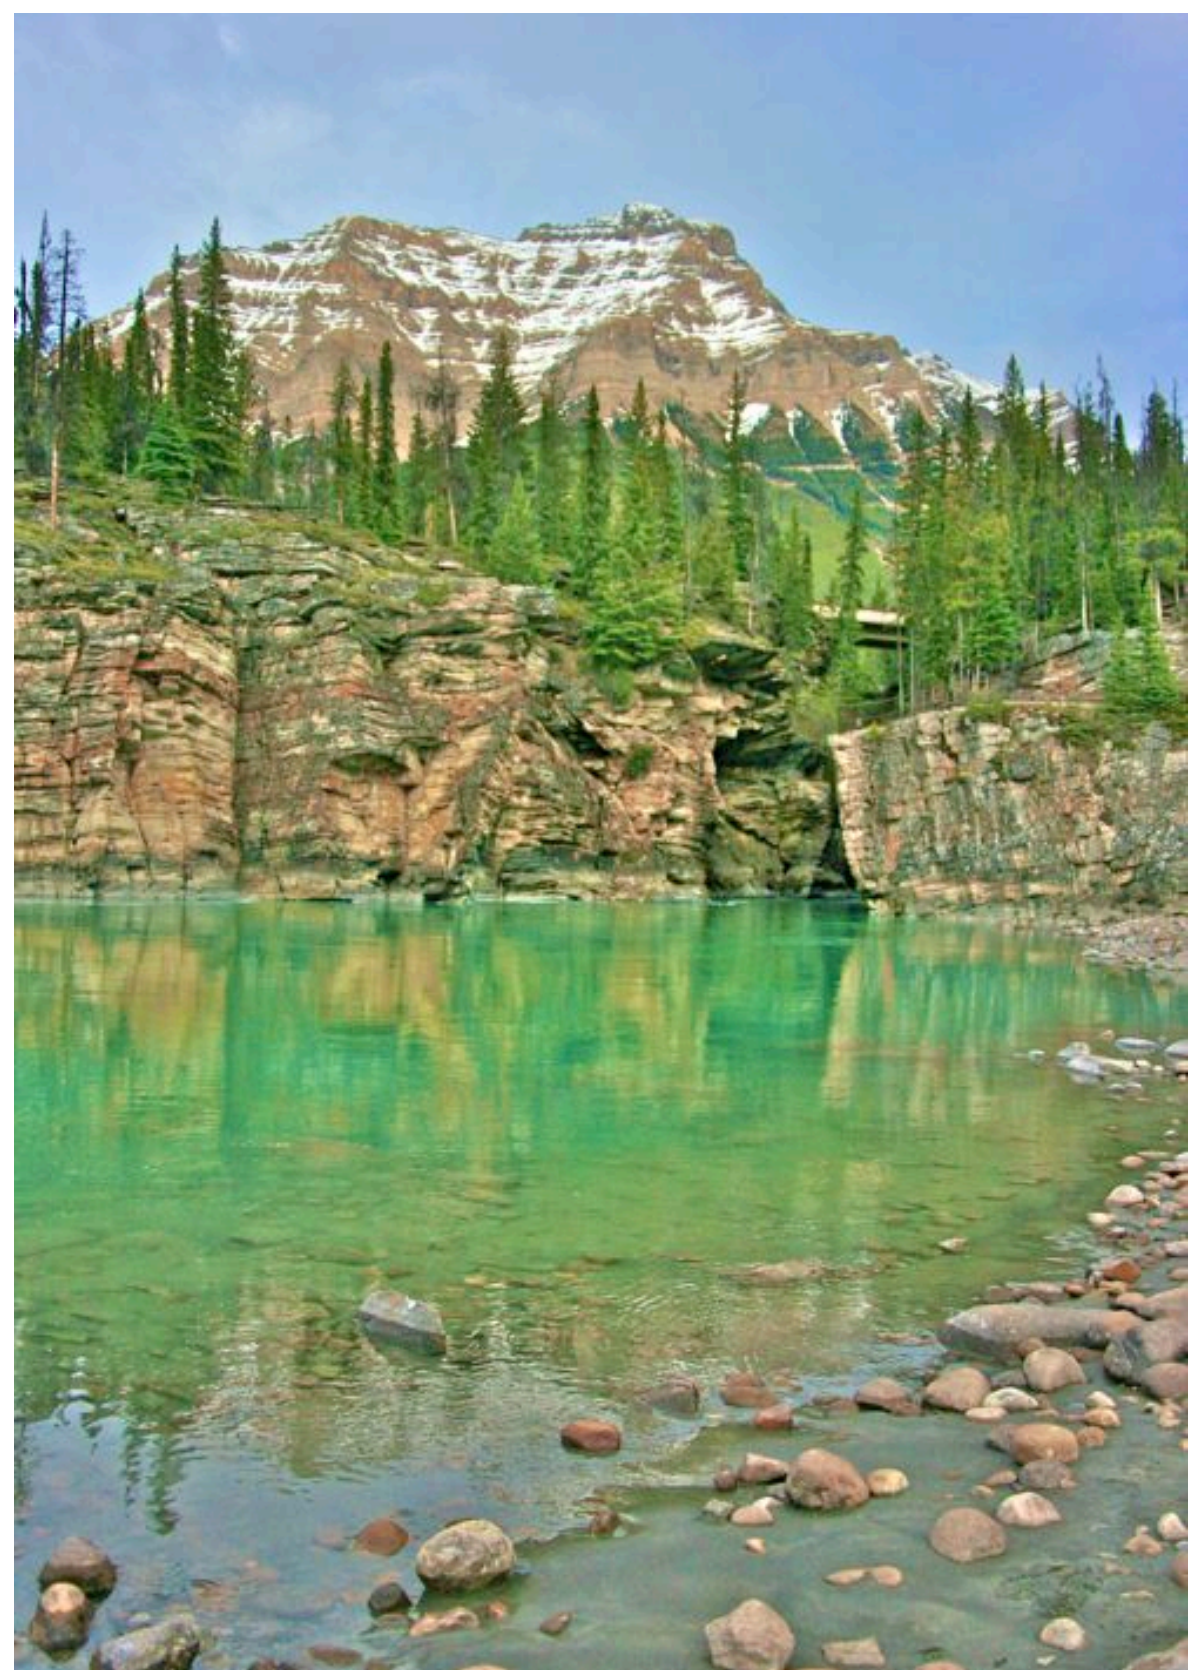

I put it together so that others can see the beauty and wonder of these amazing continents, and 'live vicariously' through our explorations, in hopes that it might inspire them to make epic journeys of their own one day.

Enjoy and share!

About Rachel Denning:

In 2006, Rachel took her first 'official' international trip to Playa Del Carmen, Mexico with her husband, as a second honeymoon before the birth of their fourth child.

It was there that they decided they needed to have an international experience as a family, so they returned home, sold their home and belongings, and drove from the United States through Mexico, Guatemala, Honduras, Nicaragua to Costa Rica where they lived for a year.

Since then, they have lived in and traveled to Panama, the Dominican Republic, Atlanta Georgia, India, Canada and Alaska.

While living in Alaska, baby number five was born, and it was there that they decided to undertake another epic expedition - to drive from Alaska to Argentina, visiting every country in North and South America.

They began this journey in April 2011. Rachel has a passion for photography, so she is creating photo books for the countries they are traveling to, so that she can share the beauty and culture of each place with others. She also shares the photos and writes about their travels at DiscoverShareInspire.com

She and her husband teach an online course on Living an Undordinary Life.
