Living deliberately

ABOUT ME

My name is Rachel Denning and I'm mother to 5 children. My husband and I are passionate about education and travel.

My website shares our experiences as we travel the world educating our children (currently driving Alaska to Argentina. We've also lived in Costa Rica, Dominican Republic, India, Mexico, & Guatemala).

I write about the transformational side of travel, and inspire others to live a 'deliberate life'. I also include topics that are important for families such as education and money, and of course travel tips.
